

Dear Madams and Sirs,

I strongly urge you to not repeal the cross-ownership rules, which currently prohibit one company from owning more than one media outlet--tv station, radio station, newspaper--simultaneously in the same geographic area.

By repealing the rules, the public will be even less exposed to fair, unbiased coverage of the issues of the day. To be able to effectively deal with these issues, we need to hear, see, and read a variety of coverage of them.

Sincerely,
Kathleen Y. Drury
